the most obdurate end by giving in, believing that they are more ridiculous to hold out, than to stand alone with common sense. Nothing, for instance, could indicate more plainly the folly of making long trained dresses the fashion, than to see a year or two ago how the latter were necessarily bunched up in the most ungraceful manner, or the wearer was compelled to have one hand always engaged with holding up the superfluous yard or two of stuff.

The Santa Ana Orlando says that the continual inflation of the value of real estate in Los Angeles county will shortly result in a collapse. Land at $1,000 an acre planted in fruit trees, which will not pay its taxes, is unreasonable.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE. Beware of imitations. Imitations and counterfeits have again appeared. Be sure that the word "Horsford's" is on the wrapper. None are genuine without it.

I SHALL BE PREPARED TO FILL ORDER for the coming planting and grafting season for any varieties of vineyard stocks that may be obtained in this State, in accordance with the

I have in my own nurseries a limited supply of very choice vines, and have engaged others elsewhere. Also, the clover-leaved Japanese climber (suitable for hedges—very thorn and hardy), seedling black walnuts (California and Eastern), seedling pecans, Carolina poplar and diamond willows (said to make wood undesirable for fence posts). Vine-growers needing other trees for orchards or avenues can procure them also through me, as I have made arrangements to fill such orders at reliable nurseries.

SACRAMENTS ABROAD.

Visiting Old Mexico En Route to the New Orleans Exposition.

[RECORD-NEWS Correspondence.]

CITY OF MEXICO, January 20, 1885.

We left Sacramento on January 10th and arrived here on the 16th. Our whole journey was pleasant as could be desired. The trip through Mexico was of interest to all our party, being the first time any of the number had ever seen the land of the Montezumas. To those interested in agriculture only, the whole route to the City of Mexico would have but little attraction, the land for the greater part of the way seeming fit only for the production of the endless variety of cacti which completely cover the country, and is not fit for grazing purposes. Near Aguas Calientes was the first farming land of note, and there it is in its most primitive state. The crops were maize, beans, corn, and such other smaller grains are pulled up by the roots and placed in small heaps by the natives. Fancy such mode of harvesting in some of the fields of wheat and barley in California. It seems to me that the hungry, poor who go to the train in this style would eat more than could be saved by such process in one day. At Aguas Calientes we were met by friends, Captain Wasson and his charming wife, formerly of Sacramento.

ZACATECAS

Is the center for all the mining operations in the State. It is finely situated among rolling hills that slope in gentle undulations away to the distant plain. Through the kindness of a friend we had an opportunity of riding for miles on the engine, and consequently had some fine views of the country. Among others was a race between an ox, which had just been relieved of the yoke by one of the natives and his master. Whether the ox was really in earnest, and so was the man. We never will know how that race ended; but as the man was sweating under his bare poles, his garment being reeled for stumps, I hope he was saved from the cruel horns of the ox by the timely arrival of the train.

En route we saw the famous dyke of Nochtigton, supposed to have been cut by Cortez. It has a depth of nearly 200 feet and is about thirteen miles long. Such a canal as this might answer for our fair city of the plains. We then crossed the city of the plains. The lands were well tilled. Large vineyards are seen of the magpie plant, from which the drink so dear to the native, palapa, is made. Peach trees were in bloom and many flowers were in bloom and many old aqueducts, old, old bones and walls of adobe and roots of the same. Even the inhabitants looked sun-dried and of much the same color. Soon we arrived at a handsome station, and we were in the city.

THE CITY OF MEXICO.

Our four days stay here have all been too short. Every courtesy has been shown our party that could be desired, so we have been able to see a great deal in the short time here. The Cathedral is grand indeed. It possesses a fascination of its own, and though not so imposing as many in Europe, is of peculiar interest, being built upon the site where once stood the Aztec temple of the sun. We were interested in the many things we saw, which remain as relics of that age and those mysterious people, than all else. The sacerdotal caste, the calendar stone, upon which they computed time, the gods and goddesses, the idols, the things were alone worth a visit to see. The old Aztecs understood something in the art of carving, even with their rude instruments, which could scarcely be accomplished now.

CHAPULTEPEC.

Wherein once lived Montezuma, and which is now being fitted up for Diaz, bears evidence of the great power of the Aztec rulers. And looking from its high turrets down upon the city, surrounded by its beautiful plains, with the fair white peak of Popocatepetl towering up to such grand heights above us, I thought, would it not be well to see the invaders never come, and had this strange people, joined to their yet stranger idols, been left alone. Civilization has done much, I suppose, and yet I saw there more abject poverty, more filth and rags, more of utter destitution than any day, than before in all my life. Though I had thought Naples and Rome stood first in beggary. Among all the poor working people who toil for so poor a living, I did not see one smiling, happy face.

Had I time, there is much that would interest me to write. The city is written concerning this strange old city, its queer people, of the palaces, churches, asylums, theaters, the circus and many other places which we visited; of the strange, nameless luscious fruits, or the strawberries which are so perfect in flavor, and of the Sunday eves, when in the zocalo eating lies in the open air, while the band played, and men and women, in their brilliant serapes, whispered in that sweetest of all languages the old, old story.

SCIENTIFIC NOTES.

Lined oxygen is lighter than water, and a little heavier than alcohol, according to a French chemist, who has calculated its specific gravity as 0.9999.

In Cape Colony the extensive planting of the common onion is recommended, as it is alleged that insects shun the land on which it is grown. The suggestion is made, however, that the same effect may not be produced in cooler countries.

A French archaeologist, M. Saillard, has discovered the workshop of a prehistoric armorer in the city of Carthage. The workman lived in the stone age, and his skeleton was found among the various stone weapons and implements upon which he had been working.

A German mining engineer, Herr J. Muller, brings light upon the standard weight by the electro-deposition of metal upon the weight. It is necessary to add considerably to the weight, this process—simply forming a thin and uniform coating—does not defeat the characters upon the coin.

Most experiments with hydrochloric acid have been confined to mucous surfaces, like the eye and the mouth. By applying under the skin, however, M. J. Grasset has found that the new anesthetic may be made to produce local insensibility in any part of the body, the duration being sufficient for various surgical operations.

An English observer has reached the conclusion that the musk beetle (Anthonomus) has the power of emitting or suppressing its odor at pleasure, but that when the scent is continuous and very powerful. He mentions a case in which a scent of roses has been known to proceed from the musk beetle, and that it is necessary to add considerably to the weight, this process—simply forming a thin and uniform coating—does not defeat the characters upon the coin.

The total length of the proposed Nicaragua canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific, is 173.75 miles. This is composed of 17.2 miles of canal, from the Pacific to Brito Harbor to the Lake of Nicaragua, 56.9 miles of lake navigation, 69.9 miles of navigation of the river San Juan, and 35.9 miles of canal from this river to Greytown. The estimated cost of this work is $41,103,839.

Some remarkable photographs of a pistol bullet in its flight, under the illumination of an electric spark, were taken by Prof. E. Mach, of Prague. He has also photographed the air streams which one may see over a Bunsen burner placed in sunshine, and has even obtained pictures of waves of sound, these last being made visible by a method in which advantage is taken of the irregular refraction of light by air set in vibration by sound.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

Several bills have come up in the Assembly this far have caused as much debate as the one introduced by Brit to define the boundaries of Lake county. The debate has been mostly confined to the author of the bill, who represents Lake county, and Mr. Henley, representing the State. The bill has been passed by a strip of territory in dispute between the two counties. Mr. Henley has fought the bill at every stage, and has been successful in the Assembly, despite his efforts. Although unsuccessful, Mr. Henley made a gallant fight on behalf of his county.

The bill to create a State Board of Forestry (introduced by Mr. Coleman of San Mateo county) passed in the Assembly yesterday. It provides that the board shall consist of three persons, to be appointed by the Governor, and to hold office for four years. The board is authorized to employ a secretary at a salary of $500 per month. The bill also appropriates $50,000 for the expenses of the board for the first two years. Members of the board are not to receive compensation, but shall be allowed their necessary traveling expenses. The duties of the board shall be to collect statistics and other information with regard to forestry, tree culture and tree preservation throughout the State, to correspond with various foreign governments, to obtain information of obtaining such information; to learn the best methods of tree culture and tree preservation, to disseminate such information to the various parts of the State, to encourage the planting of trees, and to encourage the preservation of trees.

behalf was inaugurated without his knowledge, the object being to give him the first intimation in the shape of the appointment to the Governorship. The object of the movement is uncertain, as several other applicants have entered the field, and the President has not signified his intention in the matter.

United States Senate.
WASHINGTON, February 6.—A resolution was offered by Sewell, calling upon the Secretary of War to report to the Senate whether any plans or preparations had been made by the War Department, for the army, or by the War Department, for defending the harbors on our sea coast and lakes, by torpedoes or otherwise, in case of sudden war with any foreign power, and if torpedo stations had been established, or are contemplated, for such defense. Referred.

It was agreed that the Senate shall meet at 11 a. m. on and after Monday next.

The bill to regulate the fees of pension agents and attorneys was then taken up and passed. It provides that no fee greater than $10 shall be received by pension claim agents, except that under special circumstances, subject to revision by the Commission of Pensions, a contract in writing may be made between the applicant and claim agent for a fee not exceeding $25. The bill contains a clause specially forbidding for collection by claim agents of more than $10 in claims filed between July 1, 1875, and July 1, 1884, and prohibiting the Government Pension Agents from paying claim agents more than $10 on such claims, even in cases of new contracts.

CUTICURA.

THE ONLY REMEDIES FOR THE SKIN AND BLOOD UNIVER-SALLY COMMENDED.

Wm. T. Totten, 672 North Tenth street, Philadelphia, reports that of his customers sent to him incidentally by your CUTICURA, and had gained twenty seven pounds in the last year, all of which he attributes to a special course of CUTICURA. He writes: "I have proved effective when all other remedies failed."

SORES ON NECK.
Chas. Brady, Somerville, Mass., who refers to Dr. J. W. Wood, writes: "I have been afflicted with a wonderful cure of running sores on the neck, which had been treated by hospital physicians without cure. I have yielded completely to the CUTICURA REMEDY."

CURED BY CUTICURA.
My skin disease, which resisted several popular remedies and other remedies advised by physicians, has been cured by your CUTICURA. They surpassed my most sanguine expectations and rapidly effected a cure. I am now well and healthy. J. W. WOOD, JR., NEW YORK.

KNOW ITS VALUE.
All of your CUTICURA REMEDIES give very good satisfaction. The CUTICURA I especially recommend for the diseases for which it is used. I know from experience its value. DR. H. J. PRATT, BROOKLYN, N. Y.

CUTICURA ABROAD.
Through a home-returned Norwegian I have been made to know that your CUTICURA is a short time cured me of an Eczema that my physician's medicine could not heal. CUTICURA, NEW YORK.

THE FOOT POWERS.
A feeling of gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great merits of your CUTICURA, and I cordially recommend it to the public as a valuable remedy. H. N. POWERS, BRIDGEPORT, CONN.
